

KELMSCOTT & MORRIS: PAST, PRESENT AND FUTURE

Kelmscott Manor is an internationally important site inextricably linked with William Morris, his family and circle. Our plans will transform the experience by enabling people to explore the inspirational impact that the Manor and its history had on William Morris, how this manifested itself and his enduring legacy and influence on succeeding generations worldwide.

Kelmscott Manor, William Morris's 'Heaven on Earth'

Farm Yard showing new build Byre circled to become the Learning Space and Artist Studio

Works are underway to create a Learning Space and Artist Studio on the footprint of a pre-existing byre, which once enclosed the south range of Kelmscott Manor's 17th-century farmyard. We will, for the first time, offer education activities to reach local schools and community groups living in Oxfordshire, Gloucestershire and Wiltshire. We will run a limited number of pilot learning activities in 2021, which we plan to roll out as a permanent offer to the local community from April 2022.

January 2020 (Footings)

March 2020 (Frame)

June 2020

Kelmscott Manor is owned and managed by The Society of Antiquaries of London (Charity no. 207237), one of the oldest learned Societies in the world . The Society's work to repair and maintain the historic buildings and collections publicly demonstrates our dedication to caring for the remains of the past, and keeps alive the conservation ethos pioneered by Morris

HOW YOU CAN HELP.

Any donation large or small is incredibly appreciated and could make all the difference to the Kelmscott Campaign.

If you would like to become a 'Companion' (£500) or a 'Benefactor of Kelmscott Manor' (£5000) please contact Dominic Wallis, Head of Development, Society of Antiquaries of London, Piccadilly, London, W1J 0BE 020 74797092 dwallis@sal.org.uk